/10		cases, tax returns and/or financial statements professionally

prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) will be sufficient for less complex borrowing relationships, such as those that are limited to a single operation of the borrower and principal with relatively low debt. For more complex and larger borrowing relationships, such as those involving borrowers or principals with significant loans outstanding or multiple or interrelated operations, the credit union should require borrowers and principals to provide either:

- i) An auditor's review of the financial statements prepared consistent with GAAP to obtain limited assurance (i.e., a "review quality" financial statement); or
- ii) an independent financial statement audit under generally accepted auditing standards (GAAS) for the expression of an opinion on the financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP (i.e., an "audit quality" financial statement).
- B) Credit unions should address the criteria and thresholds for the required financial reporting in their policies. Credit unions should allow exceptions in their credit policies if they determine the relationship does not require the same level of assurance and they are satisfied that the lesser quality still provides them with accurate reporting of the borrower's financial performance. Credit unions will be expected to address the issue of exceptions in their loan policies. Any exception should be documented by credit union staff and approved by the appropriate designated internal authority.

A loan is wholly or substantially secured by a lien on a 1 to 4 family residential property if the estimated value of the real estate collateral at origination (after deducting any senior liens held by others) is greater than 50% of the principal amount of the loan.

- "Loan secured by a vehicle manufactured for household use" means a loan that, at origination, is secured wholly or substantially by a lien on a new or used passenger car or other vehicle such as a minivan, sport-utility vehicle, pickup truck or similar light truck or heavy-duty truck generally manufactured for personal, family or household use and not used as a fleet vehicle or to carry fare-paying passengers, for which the lien is central to the extension of credit. A lien is central to the extension of credit if the borrower would not have been extended credit in the same amount or on terms as favorable without the lien. A loan is wholly or substantially secured by a lien on a vehicle manufactured for household use if the estimated value of the collateral at origination (after deducting any senior liens held by others) is greater than 50% of the principal amount of the loan.
- "Loan-to-value ratio" means, with respect to any item of collateral, the aggregate amount of all sums borrowed and secured by that collateral, including outstanding balances plus any unfunded commitment or line of credit from another lender that is senior to the credit union's lien position, divided by the current collateral value. The current collateral value must be established by prudent and accepted commercial lending practices and comply with all regulatory requirements. For a construction and development loan, the collateral value is the lesser of cost to complete or prospective market value, as determined in accordance with subsection (f).
- 12) "Net worth" means a credit union's net worth, as defined in Section 190.2.
- "Readily marketable collateral" means a financial instrument or bullion that is salable under ordinary market conditions with reasonable promptness at a fair market value determined by quotations based upon actual transactions on an auction or similarly available daily bid and ask price market.

  following board responsibilities and operational requirements:

- 1) Board of Directors. A credit union's board of directors, at a minimum, must:
  - A) Approve a commercial loan policy that complies with subsection (d). The board must review its policy on an annual basis, prior to any material change in the credit union's commercial lending program or related organizational structure, and in response to any material change in portfolio performance or economic conditions, and update it when warranted.
  - B) Ensure the credit union appropriately staffs its commercial lending program in compliance with subsection (c)(2).
  - C) Understand and remain informed, through periodic briefings from responsible staff and other methods, about the nature and level of risk in the credit union's commercial loan portfolio, including its potential impact on the credit union's earnings and net worth.

- C) A credit risk rating system. Credit risk ratings must be assigned to commercial loans at inception and reviewed as frequently as necessary to satisfy the credit union's risk monitoring and reporting policies and to ensure adequate reserves as required by GAAP; and
- D) A process to identify, report and monitor loans approved as exceptions to the credit union's loan policy.
- e) Collateral and Security
  - 1) A credit union must require collateral commensurate with the level of risk associated with the size and type of any commercial loan. Collateral must be sufficient to ensure adequate loan balance protection, along with appropriate risk sharing with the borrower and principals. A credit union making an unsecured loan must determine and document in the loan file that mitigating factors sufficiently offset the relevant risk.
  - 2) A credit union that does not require the full and unconditional personal guarantee from the principals of the borrower who has a controlling interest in the borrower must determine and document in the loan file that mitigating factors sufficiently offset the relevant risk.
- f) Construction and Development Loans
  In addition to the requirements of subsections (a) through (e), the following requirements apply to a construction and development loan made by any credit union.
  - 1) For the purposes of this subsection (f), a construction or development loan means any financing arrangement enabling the borrower to acquire property or rights to property, including land or structures, with the intent to construct or renovate an income producing property, such as residential housing for rental or sale, or a commercial building, such as may be used for commercial, agricultural, industrial or other similar purposes. It also means a financing arrangement for the construction, major expansion or renovation of the property types referenced in this subsection (f). The collateral valuation for securing a construction or development loan depends on the satisfactory completion of the proposed construction or renovation when the loan proceeds are disbursed in increments as the work is completed. A loan to finance maintenance, repairs or improvements to an existing income producing property that does not change its use or materially impact the property is not a construction or development loan.

- 1014 2) A credit union that elects to make a construction or development loan must ensure that its commercial loan policy includes adequate provisions 1015 by which the collateral value associated with the project is properly 1016 1017 determined and established. For a construction or development loan, 1018 collateral value is the lesser of the project's cost to complete or its 1019 prospective market value. 1020
  - A) For the purposes of this subsection (f), "cost to complete" means the sum of all qualifying costs necessary to complete a construction project and documented in an approved construction budget. Qualifying costs generally include on-site or off-site improvements, building construction, other reasonable and customary costs paid to construct or improve a project, including general contractor's fees, and other expenses normally included in a construction contract, such as bonding and contractor insurance. Oualifying costs include the value of the land, determined as the lesser of appraised market value or purchase price plus the cost of any improvements. Qualifying costs also include interest, a contingency account to fund unanticipated overruns, and other development costs such as fees and related pre-development expenses. Interest expense is a qualifying cost only to the extent it is included in the construction budget and is calculated based on the projected changes in the loan balance up to the expected "ascomplete" date for owner-occupied non-income producing commercial real estate or the "as-stabilized" date for income producing real estate. Project costs for related parties, such as developer fees, leasing expenses, brokerage commissions and management fees, are included in qualifying costs only if reasonable in comparison to the cost of similar services from a third party. Qualifying costs exclude interest or preferred returns payable to equity partners or subordinated debt holders, the developer's general corporate overhead, and selling costs to be funded out of sales proceeds, such as brokerage commissions and other closing costs.
  - B) For the purposes of this subsection (f), "prospective market value" means the market value opinion determined by an independent appraiser in compliance with the relevant standards set forth in the USPAP. Prospective value opinions are intended to reflect the current expectations and perceptions of market participants, based on available data. Two prospective value opinions may be required to reflect the time frame during which development, construction and occupancy occur. The prospective market value "as-

1057				completed" reflects the property's market value as of the time that
1058				development is to be completed. The prospective market value "as-
1059				stabilized" reflects the property's market value as of the time the
1060				property is projected to achieve stabilized occupancy. For an
1061				income producing property, stabilized occupancy is the occupancy
1062				level that a property is expected to achieve after the property is
1063				exposed to the market for lease over a reasonable period of time
1064				and at comparable terms and conditions to other similar properties.
1065				and at comparable terms and conditions to other similar properties.
